DRASTIC END TO DEVOTION.

Jealous Lover Put an End to the Life of His Former Fiancee.

Ann Arbor, Mich. Sept. 23.—Annie M. Miles, aged 24, was shot and killed last night, by Ed. Miles, her former fiancée in front of her home. Miles then shot himself in the abdomen, and his body is in the hospital. The girl had been engaged to Miles and had been living with him in Ironwood and Miles had there to endeavor to patch up a quarrel that separated them a year ago.

The couple came home together on the train, and quarrelled, it is said, while enroute. When they left the train, the girl dodged around behind a water tank to escape Miles, but he followed her and shot her on her mother's door step.

INLAY QUIT RATHER QUICK.

Congratulations Given Him for His Lucid Explanation of Tough Subject.

London, Sept. 23.—Attorney General Balfour has concluded his argument in behalf of Canada, at this morning's session of the Alaskan boundary commission. He received the thanks of Chief Justice Alverstone, and the congratulations of Messrs. Root and Lodge on his explanation of so technical a subject. The general made it clear that he was above everything else, to the sea, and American commissioners. The effort will be made by them to show that the boundary is not a barrier between the Dominion and the ocean, and that the question of territory is not important, provided the shores and inlets remain in the possession of the United States.

David T. Watson, of Pittsburgh, of counsel for the Americans, opened for the United States, describing the purchase of Alaska, and stating that the United States published in 1867 the map issued by Russia in 1856, one year after the treaty with Great Britain, and that a protest was made against the boundaries being fixed either by Great Britain or Canada.

LAST ESSAY WAS DEFENSE

Of the Use of Incense. Noted Episcopalian Writer Yielded to Disease.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—Rev. Henry R. Percival, a prominent divine, died last night, at his country home in Devon, a suburb. He was 49 years old. Dr. Percival studied theology at the general theological seminary in New York, was ordained deacon in 1872, and was advanced to the priesthood the following year, by Bishop Horatio Potter. He was an extensive writer on theology, many of his books being used as standard works in nearly all of the Episcopal theological seminaries of this country. The most important are the "Doctrines of the Episcopal Church," "The Glories of the Episcopal Church," "Digest of Theology," "Invocation of Saints," and "The Seven General Councils."

One of his last essays was his defense of the use of incense which was read before the court of the archbishop of Canterbury in London.

BRITISHERS COMING OVER.

Left Home, Marching to Soul Stirring American Airs. Expect Royal Time.

London, Sept. 23.—To the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner," "Marching Through Georgia," and other American airs, some two hundred members of the "Honorable Artillery" company, left their London armory today, and took a train for Liverpool, to embark on the Dominion Line steamer Mayflower, bound for Boston, Mass. A large crowd of friends of the artillery men assembled early at the armory to wish the company a successful campaign.

Many of the members of the company who participated in the previous visit, expressed keen regret at being unable to accompany the departing detachment, while those going were evidently delighted at the prospect. Prior to the departure of the artillery men, Lieutenant-Colonel, the Earl of Denbigh, commanding, paraded the company, whose smart uniforms and good alignment created an excellent impression.

COMPANY HAS TOO MUCH IRON ON HAND.

Lebanon, Pa., Sept. 23.—Vice President Buckingham of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company, corroborates the statement that the furnaces here and at Cornwall, Pa., will be blown out in a few days, throwing out 2,000 hands. He said the company has too much iron on hand. Mr. Buckingham stated further that the building trades' strikes, causing delay in the construction of new buildings, have helped to necessitate the suspension which may continue.

WILL DEFEND AT ALL HAZARD.

Coal Company Claims Lands Have Been Legally Entered, and Will Fight.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 23.—"A settlement as to the coal lands between the government and the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., has not been considered," said D. C. Beman, secretary for the coal and iron company, today. The statement was made in denial of the report that they had settled with the government in a lawsuit over coal land, by paying $500,000.

"The company's lands," continued Mr. Beman, "have all been legally entered, and the title will be defended at all hazards. There is no disposition to entertain a proposition for compromise."

PIG IRON MAKERS.

New York, Sept. 23.—A meeting of representatives of about 30 pig iron furnace companies in northern states, particularly Pennsylvania and New Jersey, was held here today. The conference lasted for several hours and adjourned to meet at a later day. It is understood that the meeting was for the purpose of discussing the formation of a northern pig iron pool. No definite proposition, it was said, was put before the conference but a number of the companies were delegated to draw up the details of the plan and report at the next meeting.

THIS POLICEMAN WAS AGAINST REAL THING.

New York, Sept. 23.—Ten women and a policeman have been severely bruised and out by being hurled together in a north bound trolley car which jumped the track on White Plains road, borough of the Bronx. The motorman was thrown from the platform and badly bruised. A small stone on the track is supposed to have caused the accident. The car plunged down a slight embankment, and ran about fifty feet before coming to a stop.

WERE BURIED SIDE BY SIDE.

Ferrier, who was connected with the Paris office of the Associated Press, and who died suddenly Sunday, and of his wife, who in a fit of distraction, took her life soon afterwards, were buried side by side today in Bagneux cemetery. The Rev. Dr. Thurber, rector of the American church officiated. A number of newspaper men and friends of the deceased, were present. Many beautiful tributes were placed on the casket. No relatives of either Mr. or Mrs. Ferrier, have been located.

ANNUAL REUNION

Of Old Time Telegraphers Brings Back War Time Memories.

Robison, Who Sent First Message From Balloon Among Those in Attendance. Copy of Message Sent President Lincoln at the War Department.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 23.—The 23d annual reunion of old time telegraphers and the Historical Association and Society of Military Telegraph Corps, was held here today. The convention was called to order by President Frey, in the assembly room of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, the first ceremony being the decoration of the executive with the Morse medalion, by Col. Wm. Bender Wilson. Then followed the address of welcome by acting Mayor Corcoran. The regular business of the convention followed. A resolution providing for an amendment to the bylaws to provide for the election of two vice presidents instead of one, was adopted. A resolution of thanks was voted the state of Pennsylvania, for medal which was conferred on Col. Wm. Bender Wilson, in recognition of his important services as a telegrapher during confederate raids into the state. The election of officers followed.

Henry C. Robinson, of Camden, N. J., who has the distinction of having sent the first telegram from a balloon, is among those attending the convention. It was one of President Lincoln's hobbies that balloons could be used to advantage in covering the position of the enemy during the war of the rebellion, and as a trial, a balloon was sent up 400 feet, and the following, sent over a wire connected with the war department:

"Up in a balloon, Washington, April 18, 1861.

"To His Excellency, President Lincoln.

"It affords me much pleasure at this elevation to send you herewith the first telegraphic message ever transmitted from an aerial station. I desire to express my thanks to you for the encouragement you have given to the use of the balloon in the military service of the government.

Respectfully,

T. C. S. LOWE"

BODIES WERE FOUND IN LOT.

Chicago Police Find Well Dressed Victims of Murder and Suicide.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The bodies of a well dressed woman about twenty years old and a man apparently thirty, were found in a vacant lot in a fashionable residence portion of the south side, early today. A revolver clutched in the dead man's hand, a bullet from which had passed through the woman's lung, and two bullet wounds in the man's neck, lead the police to believe it a case of murder and suicide.

The names "Laurie" and "Sherman" on the woman's clothing, and the initials "D. O. R." on the man's linen, are the only identifying marks upon the bodies.

Woman Identified.

The police later identified the body of the woman as that of Mrs. Arthur M. Laurie, wife of a window decorator, employed in the advertising department of Swift & Co.

HE DID NOT MAKE IT GOOD.

St. Louis Man Attempted to Put His Light Out in City of Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Reed Northrup, a wealthy St. Louis business man connected with one of the refrigerating lines attempted to commit suicide yesterday by shooting himself. The bullet however, merely inflicted a superficial wound in the scalp. Northrup, with his wife, who is in bad health, and two children, have been stopping at the Niagara hotel for two weeks.

Worried over his wife's health, which prevented his returning to St. Louis, where he had important business engagements, is attributed the cause of his attempt to take his life.

A SOCIAL WORLD MAY

Be Torn Up Over Peculiar Death of Wealthy Young Nebraskan.

Letters Found Among His Effects Indicate He Was Victim of Continued Blackmail. Parent Says Mention of Woman's Name Would Cause Sensation.

New York, Sept. 23.—"I send you here with $300. This is positively the last money I will send you. I will not let you blackmail me any longer."

This together with the torn fragments of a check, is said to be the text of a letter which has been pieced together from being discovered in the apartment where John D. Kilpatrick, a wealthy son of the late David Kilpatrick of Beatrice, Neb., was found Monday, shot through the heart. The case had begun to look like one of murder, but it is now thought that the first theory—suicide, is correct, and that Kilpatrick killed himself to escape his tormentor.

J. E. Lambie, stepfather of the dead man, declares that sensational developments may grow out of the affair. He is quoted as saying:

"We know the woman to whom the letter was addressed. She is a young married woman, the mere mention of whose name would cause a sensation in New York city, as she is known as a member of one of the most prominent social sets in the city. We know enough now to be convinced that my stepson committed suicide."

"I have learned since that he wrote another letter, and another check, and sent them to the woman. I do not know the contents of the other letter."

ROBBERS MADE A BIG HAUL.

Joliet, Mo., Sept. 23.—Robbers blew the safe of the Baxter Spring's post office early today, and secured $800 worth of postage stamps and about $25 in money. The robbers used nitro glycerine.

MRS. LOU LIN, WITH HER KIN.

After Long Waiting She Secures Passports, and Lands in Mott Street.

New York, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Lou Lin, the christianized wife of a Chinaman in business here, and who has been the subject of much correspondence between government officials and her missionary friends, finally has reached Mott street, exactly five months after leaving the Canton Baptist academy.

All her troubles in getting into the country, were because she did not carry with her from China, the proper passports. She came with the credentials of a merchant's wife. Mrs. Lin was detained in San Francisco, but the Canadian Pacific railroad put up a $1000 bond, when she was allowed to go on to Montreal. Last month, passports identifying her as a Christian missionary teacher, arrived, but it was not until Monday that she went before a U. S. inspector at Malone, N. Y., to be passed upon. She was warmly welcomed upon arriving in China town.

BESIDE THEM WAS A CLUB.

Northfield, Vt., Sept. 23.—Neighbors who went to the house of Mrs. Steven Trombler at South Northfield, early today, found the woman and her young child lying apparently dead on the blood stained floor. Beside them was a club with which they had been beaten. The woman revived sufficiently to relate that a strange man whom she had discovered in her room had inflicted her injuries in an attempt to outrage her, and then she lapsed into unconsciousness, and is expected to die. It is thought that the child, aroused by the disturbance, was beaten to still its cries.

MUST BE MAN, NOT AN ANGEL.

Statement of What Is Needed in a Minister by Prof. Tyler.

Atlantic City, Sept. 23.—This morning's session of the National Unitarian Congress of Christian churches was enlivened by the report of the committee on allowances.

There seems to be some disagreement over the contents and a lengthy debate took place in executive session of the committee whether or not it should be reported.

The principal paper of the morning was on "The Ministers Needed."

Addresses of thirty minutes each were made on the subject by Prof. John M. Tyler, of Amherst, Mass., and C. W. Ames, of St. Paul. In the course of his remarks, Prof. Tyler said:

"The ministers we need must first of all be a man, not an angel, nor a disembodied spirit. He will have a sound digestion, the foundation of all greatness, tough muscular system, the seat and condition of health, a sound, steady and not a nervous system."

He will have a clear eye, a long head and a warm heart. He will have iron in his blood, granite in his soul and God's sunshine in his face."

The address of Mr. Ames touched on the fact that a good minister could not be had for twelve hundred dollars a year. He said a minister needs to be literary and intellectual to a high degree.

This afternoon's session was devoted to a minister's meeting in charge of Rev. Chas. F. Dole, Rev. M. O. Shuman and Rev. J. Day.

LOVE'S DREAM OFTEN HAS RUDE AWAKENING.

Stories of Lover's Quarrels and Re-union Which Prove Truth of Old Saw That True Love Never Ran Smoothly.

Loves young dream frequently has a rude awakening. Such was the experience of J. R. McKee and Miss Alice D. Ricker of Elwood, Ind., but since the dream they have awakened and are trying to forget there ever were any differences between them, says the Chicago Tribune.

When Alice was a tiny miss in blue pinfolds she used to give "Bod" McKee her candy. When they went to the district school he would carry her books, and never a last bite of his apple that he would not share with his little playmate.

At last they were really engaged and everything seemed propitious. Then occurred one of those unaccountable lover's quarrels, which prove that true love never ran smoothly. McKee in a pique took the government examination for the foreign service.

Miss Ricker almost cried her blue eyes out, but it was too late. A message came one day while she was standing at the little hinged gate in the old white picket fence about the shady Elmwood home. It bore a Manila postmark, and told of homesickness. It told also of regret and remorse for hasty action.

Alice answered it. Leave of absence soon was procured, and McKee started for home. Lovers' quarrels end with lovers' meeting, and the one which separated these two lovers was made up as soon as the young government employee could reach home. The dream from which they had awakened was again powerful. Miss Ricker will become Mrs. McKee.

Brother on Sisters' Trail. An ardent brother endeavored to arrange other dreamers. He was not successful as they have been married and are expected to live happily ever after. Miss Melinda Etra Stout of Hiramport, Ohio, was the young woman and Robert Kelly of Cincinnati was the other dreamer. The girl, barely 21 years old, went to Cincinnati last week to meet her fiancé. They were married by a justice of the peace.

A brother of the young woman appeared at midnight, and, learning that the license had been issued, visited magistrates and ministers. When he learned that his sister had been married by a justice of the peace there was trouble, but the girl was firm in her determination not to leave her husband. The brother returned to Hiramport to report to his parents that he had arrived too late to awaken the dreamers.

Balloons Unite Ten in Love. From Atlantic City comes a story of love unique and romantic, of messages carried away by ocean breezes and bringing back to the feet of five summer maidens five young fellows, who are now ensnared in the meshes and who will be bound still more securely by matrimony.

The venturesome quintette of young women were basking in the sun after their dip in the surf when a vendor of ten balloons approached Mary A. Martin of Cincinnati, Ohio, suggested that they buy balloons and that each write a love letter and tie it to the inflated sphere.

The balloon man to his surprise was relieved of his entire stock, after being sworn to secrecy. With suppressed laughter the missives were penned and attached to the balloons. The ten were flying away and the fair-haired maidens awaited results, which came when five gallants returned the letters for the pleasure of meeting the writers.

The acquaintance thus begun is to end at the altar. As soon as the young men found the missives they searched for and found the writers. Now no one could wish that this dream be disturbed. When Cupid gets ten souls in his keeping at once he should be careful.

Travel Far For a License. It isn't everybody that has as hard luck as two other young people. They have traveled more than 1,000 miles in search of a marriage license, and every well-minded person will agree that a tenth of that distance should be sufficient. For more than a week Frank Felton and Miss Margaret Haffer of Pittsburgh have been hunting for the documents which will enable them to marry. They left with a party of friends going to Canada a week ago. They intended to secure their license there. When they found they could not they took train and boat to Cleveland, Ohio, where they failed again. Finally they went to Youngstown, named as a Greena Green, and there they expected to find the article desired.

United After Many Years. There is another dream from which the participants were awakened and into which they have entered again. The story of the courting of Senator Heyburn of Idaho and Miss Cherdine Yeatman dates back to 1878. The bride is a descendant of one of the oldest Quaker families in Pennsylvania and is the daughter of the late John M. Yeatman. The groom was an employee of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad in 1878, and later was a law student at Media.

The first meeting of the two was followed by others and finally there was an engagement which ended in a separation.

In the period which followed the present senator was building up his fortunes, and love's young dream had to take a second place. Ambition was the dominant factor in the young man's life. Now the ambition has been realized and the two have re-entered the dreamy condition and have averted a rude awakening this time.

True Love Finds a Way. That true love will find a way was demonstrated when Newton Perry and Miss Julia Farris appeared in the office of a Louisville justice of the peace and asked him to unite them. They lived on adjoining farms eight miles from the city. Perry is 25 years old and Miss Farris is 18. They told the justice they had not walked to the city for the romance in the journey but because they wanted to be married and because that was the only way they could reach the official.

After the ceremony was performed they started on their long walk home, tired but happy. The justice asked them if their parents objected to the match, and they said they did not, explaining their walk by the statement that they had been unable to hire a conveyance.

Two girls have agreed not to marry during the lifetime of B. S. Simmons, a retired Hartford business man, 70 years old. They are Martha Evelyn Baldwin, a Hartford school girl, and her intimate friend, Miss Susan Loomis of East Hampton.

In consideration of this agreement Mr. Simmons has adopted the young women with the approval of the parents, and has made them his heirs. Miss Baldwin first met Mr. Simmons while visiting an aunt. The elderly man manifested a fatherly interest in her the first day and soon afterwards confided to her his liking for the companionship of young people. Since the death of his wife, he said he had been depressed by loneliness and had contemplated disposing of his home.

Mr. Simmons proposed later to adopt the young woman, and offered at the same time to adopt any other young woman she might select as her companion. The result is the agreement entered into by the three.

RESULT OF COMPETITION.

New York, Sept. 23.—Consternation has been caused here by a Brussels dispatch to the Herald, by a cablegram announcing that the American plate glass manufacturers will have to reduce the price of their wares enormously in order to defeat foreign competition. The U. S. was the best market for England, for Belgian plate glass. The Belgian manufacturers will therefore lose largely by the move of their American rivals.

CROP REPORT.

Washington, Sept. 23.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows:

"While the week has been abnormally cool, with general frosts throughout the central valleys, and as far south as the northern portion of the central Gulf states, the damage has not been serious, except in the extreme western portions of Kansas and Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota and New England. The south Atlantic states have suffered from excessive moisture, while the heavy rains of the previous week over the northern portions of the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys' delayed threshing of spring wheat, and caused grain in shock to sprout. Drought has been largely relieved in the east Gulf states, but continues in the Ohio valley, Tennessee and in the central and west Gulf states. The Pacific coast states have experienced a very favorable week.

Notwithstanding the occurrence of light to heavy frosts generally throughout the corn belt, the corn crop has escaped injury, except in the western portions of Kansas, and Nebraska, and in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

While low temperatures have prevented rapid ripening especially over the western districts, the crop as a whole has advanced favorably, although the late plants in the Ohio valley and Tennessee have suffered from drought. A large part of the crop is now safe, but the bulk of the unharvested will require from one to two weeks of favorable weather.

The weather has been favorable for the completion of spring wheat harvest on the north Pacific coast. In the Dakotas and Minnesota, spring wheat in shock has been injured, and threshing delayed by wet weather.

Late tobacco has suffered from the drought in Tennessee and Kentucky and heavy rains in North Carolina, and frosts caused some injury in Kentucky. Damp weather has proved injurious to tobacco in barns in Maryland. The bulk of the crop is now housed.

The reports continue to indicate extensive prevalence of blight and decay in potatoes.

Planting and seeding have advanced satisfactorily except in the Ohio valley and Tennessee, where the soil has been too dry, and in the northern portion of the middle Atlantic states, where there has been too much rain.

A MOTTO OR A LEGEND FOR Every Bit of Furniture You Possess Is Quite the Thing.

A motto or a legend for every bit of furniture you possess is now quite allowable.

Here are a few which may serve a good turn for furniture, bric-a-brac, wall or ceiling:

"Enter my gates, sit thee down and welcome," may be inscribed over a hall door; or the equally appropriate lines, "Bear welcome in your eye, your hand, your tongue," or, "Good company, good welcome."

The arch above a fireplace is a favorite place for motto decoration. In Mark Twain's home the legend over the fireplace in the drawing room is one breathing a hospitable spirit—"The ornament of a house is the friends who frequent it."

"O, ye fire and heat, bless ye the Lord," was the legend above the fireplace at Senator Chauncey Depew's country home at Ardsley, N. Y.

Andrew Carnegie has a wholesome affection for legends of all kinds and descriptions, but they figure mainly in his library—upon the walls, ceilings, sofa pillows and backs of chairs.

Upon the back of a queer leather-upholstered chair is painted in gold, "Sit thee down and rest." In his little daughter's nursery, upon a tiny chair, is inscribed the lines, "Love me little, love me long."

Over a cabinet for stationery is the legend "At your fingers' end," and "A smattering of odds and ends," appears upon a cabinet for bric-a-brac. "Here's rosemary, that's for remembrance," marks a case for souvenirs.

"There's luck in leisure" is over a rack filled with a dozen or more long-stemmed pipes—Dutchmen's pipes. Upon the wall, near some curious Japanese musical tubes, which Mr. Carnegie plays with some dash and spirit, is inscribed the rollicking legend, "There's a good time coming, boys."

Several quotations from Shakespeare appear here and there upon ceiling and wall, and are set off with floral decorations of the thistle, the emblematic flower of Scotland. One quotation is the familiar one of "To mine own self be true, and it must follow as the night the day thou canst not then be false to any man."

A forest green bookcase has, in golden letters, the lines "Old books to read, old friends to trust."

Other legends besides this one that Mr. Carnegie favors for his bookcase and which are equally appropriate for a library are "My library were dukedom large enough;" "My pictures, medals, books complete;" "I hate a man of one book."

If the owner of the library is something of a cynic, these lines from Moore may be used:

"My only books Were woman's looks. And folly's all they taught me."

The following lines may appeal to another's taste:

"If one short volume could comprise All that was witty, learned and wise, How would it be esteemed and read?"

The lines, "Esqu coasted nooks and all the sweet serenity of books," is still another apt quotation.

Upon the frame of a mirror nothing can be more suitable than "Be to my virtues very kind, and to my faults a little blind."

Over a clock may be painted the legend, "We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths. In feelings, not in figures on a dial."

For a rack for beer steins and Uncle Tobys are the lines, "Bring hither of mighty ale a big quart;" while a rack or stand for pipes and tobacco can be decorated with the lines from "Othello" "O thou weed, who art so lovely fair and smell'st so sweet. There is also the line, "Those smoke like incense doth perfume," or "The sum of earth bliss," may find an echo in many a mind.

"A right welcome sound" is inscribed upon a gong.

For a hand painted china tea-tray, in addition to the decoration of flowers, are the lines, "Be mistress of thyself though China fall."

Nor must the corner where golf sticks and archery implements are kept be forgotten.

A golf bag may be emblazoned with: "Time-honored golf I heard it whispered once, That he who could not play was held a dunce."

"Well won is well shot," may do for the corner where the archery outfit is kept.

NOT AN AMERICAN IN THE WHOLE CREW.

Much Boasting Over "Yankee Crew" Which Sailed Reliance Comes to Naught on Investigation—Were All Scandinavians.

Sir Thomas Lipton, in one of his interviews, made the remark "The smartest sailors I ever saw in my life are sailing the Reliance." Sir Thomas was correct, as the result proved, says the Chicago Tribune.

As compared with the crew of Shamrock III, they were quicker and more intelligent in obeying orders count for success in a race. They were men who anticipated Capt. Barr's orders and were ready to obey them before they were given. In other words they were experts in navigation specialties, and each man was selected for special work. Capt. Wringe's sailors were not so quick because they did not anticipate orders.

Sir Thomas Lipton's remark has been accepted as a compliment to American seamanship, and there has been much boasting over "a Yankee boat and a Yankee crew." Reliance is a Yankee boat. It was built at Bristol by Herreshoff, who, in spite of his name, a Yankee born in Bristol, but, alas, Reliance did not have a Yankee crew. There was not an American on board of it nor a person born in America. Its captain is a

Nor must the corner where golf sticks and archery implements are kept be forgotten.

A golf bag may be emblazoned with: "Time-honored golf I heard it whispered once, That he who could not play was held a dunce."

"Well won is well shot," may do for the corner where the archery outfit is kept.

NOT AN AMERICAN IN THE WHOLE CREW.

Much Boasting Over "Yankee Crew" Which Sailed Reliance Comes to Naught on Investigation—Were All Scandinavians.

Sir Thomas Lipton, in one of his interviews, made the remark "The smartest sailors I ever saw in my life are sailing the Reliance." Sir Thomas was correct, as the result proved, says the Chicago Tribune.

As compared with the crew of Shamrock III, they were quicker and more intelligent in obeying orders count for success in a race. They were men who anticipated Capt. Barr's orders and were ready to obey them before they were given. In other words they were experts in navigation specialties, and each man was selected for special work. Capt. Wringe's sailors were not so quick because they did not anticipate orders.

Sir Thomas Lipton's remark has been accepted as a compliment to American seamanship, and there has been much boasting over "a Yankee boat and a Yankee crew." Reliance is a Yankee boat. It was built at Bristol by Herreshoff, who, in spite of his name, a Yankee born in Bristol, but, alas, Reliance did not have a Yankee crew. There was not an American on board of it nor a person born in America. Its captain is a Scotchman, who has taken out his first papers. The first, second and third mates are Norwegians. Of its crew of forty-two men, thirty-seven are un-naturalized and two naturalized Norwegians, two un-naturalized Swedes, and one un-naturalized Dane. Reliance, therefore, was a Yankee boat manned by a Scotch-American captain and a Scandinavian crew, and the result must be set down as a Norwegian triumph. Evidently the days of the Maine and Deer Island American sailors, who figured in the old contests, have passed away. It is surprising that Sir Thomas with a knowledge of the skill and alertness of these descendants of the Vikings on the water, has not named one of his Shamrocks with Norwegians instead of Brits, for the Norwegians are the men who successfully maintain the blue ribbon of the seas.

Tragedy Averted. "Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved," writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Every body ought to know, it's the only sure cure for Coughs, Colds and all Lung Diseases. Guaranteed by H. F. Vorkamp, corner Main and North streets, druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

THE DORCAS SOCIETY will meet with Mrs. Stoppard, 525 east Market street, Friday 2:30 p. m. Election of officers for next year and payment of dues for year ending Sept. 30th, 1936. All members are requested to be present. By order of the president.

Doctors Could Not Help Her. "I had kidney trouble for years," writes Mrs. Raymond Conner of Shelton, Wash., "and the doctors could not help me. I tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and the very first dose gave me relief and I am now cured. I cannot say too much for Foley's Kidney Cure." It makes the diseased kidneys sound so they will eliminate the poisons from the blood.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 23.—The German tug Titus arrived here today from Amsterdam to tow the Italian bark Erasmo from Philadelphia to Genoa, for repairs. The bark which is now on her maiden voyage was caught in a gale and damaged. On her arrival here bids for repairs were requested but were thought by the owners to be excessive. It was finally decided to send the bark to an Italian ship yard and the German tug was chartered to do the towing. It is said this is the first instance of a foreign tug having crossed the ocean for a tow.

SOUTH

Lima Now Has a Sanatorium

At 535 S. Main.

Mrs. Lowry and Miss N. Payne in Charge.

Baker-Braun and the Hallock-Woerner Weddings Briefly Told.

A Telephone Lineman Injured by a Fall—Death of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, of Second Street—Personal Notes.

That south Lima is fast becoming civilized is evidenced by the many necessary commodities coming into our midst, especially within the last couple of years. The latest and a most welcome addition to south Lima, is an up-to-date sanatorium.

Mrs. Nellie Lowry and Miss Nettie Payne, two well-known and excellent nurses, of several years' experience, have leased the Crall property, 535 south Main street, (the one occupied by the late Elizabeth Moore), and have fitted it up with everything necessary for the comfort of invalids—snug and cozy bed rooms with plenty of light; comfortable reception rooms, an observatory from which one can view almost the entire city and surrounding country, filtered water system, etc. The cooking department, kitchen and dining room are in the basement, also bath rooms.

Several of the best physicians and surgeons of the city are connected with this new enterprise, and the very best of care will be given patrons.

The new sanatorium now has a capacity for fifteen persons, which will be added to as necessity demands, and has verandas and porches surrounding or adjoin every room, ambulance, messenger and telephone service—in fact, every modern convenience obtainable has been installed. While south Lima has been chosen as a location for this needed convenience, yet it is open for the general public and everything is now ready for business.

These estimable ladies wish it understood that they are not in opposition to the city hospital, but will be satisfied to take care of the overflow.

The name of this haven of rest and comfort will be LaBelle Sanatorium. The managers invite your inspection. New Phone 656.

SKIN DISEASES THE OUTCROPPING OF BAD BLOOD

And while not always painful are aggravating beyond expression. With few exceptions they are worse in spring and summer when the system begins to thaw out and the skin is reacting and making extra efforts to throw off the poisons that have accumulated during the winter. Then boils and pimples, rashes and eruptions of every conceivable kind make their appearance, and Eczema and Tetter—the twin terrors of skin diseases—Nettle-rash, Poison Oak and Ivy, and such other skin troubles as usually remain quiet during cold weather, break out afresh to torment and distract by their fearful burning, itching and stinging. A course of S. S. S. now will purify and enrich the blood, reinforce and tone up the general system and stimulate the sluggish circulation, thus warding off the diseases common to spring and summer. The skin, with good blood to nourish it, remains smooth and soft and free of all disfiguring eruptions.

After an illness of about six weeks Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, wife of George Smith, of 326 east Second street, passed away yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Smith has been a sufferer from cancer for several months, but only the last six weeks has her malady been critical, and owing to her advanced age and weak condition she could not undergo the usual treatment for such cases. Her age was 55 years, three months and ten days. To mourn is a husband, one daughter and two sons and a host of neighbors and friends. The remains will be taken to Darke county for interment, but arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

I did so and used a bottle and it cured me of indigestion. It has been a great relief and I would not be without a bottle at hand, as I think it a very valuable preparation for the stomach and a great remedy for indigestion. I have tried many doctors and about every remedy that was prescribed by friends and none did me more good than all I have ever tried."

WILL

Come Back If He Is Elected

And Look Into

Faces of People and Tell Them All

That He Has Kept Every Anti-Election Promise He Made to Them.

When Asked If Democracy Would Win, the Mayor Replied That It Certainly Would If Voters Were Thinking.

Logan, Sept. 23.—(Special Correspondence)—Two counter attractions in the way of a church festival and a regimental reunion of veterans of the civil war seemed to have no effect on the attendance at the Tom L. Johnson tent meeting at this place last night. Between 3,500 and 4,000 people were assembled under the canvas which was pitched on the public square adjoining the court house. Before the meeting ended, nearly all the veterans attending the reunion had come in, and there seemed to be many democrats among them.

Mr. Johnson was alone at tonight's meeting, except for Peter Witt, who gives picture talks on taxation that have been making an immense hit during the past two weeks. John H. Clarke, Senator Hanna's opponent for Cleveland today, but will speak at the meeting at Chillicothe, tomorrow night. As at last night's meeting, Mr. Johnson devoted little of his speech to the speeches of Senator Hanna, and others made at the republican opening at Chillicothe, last Saturday, and then went on with his usual exposition of the principles for which the democratic party stands in this campaign. Both Mr. Johnson and Mr. Clarke appear to take the view that there was nothing in the Chillicothe speeches worth their serious consideration.

"We present facts," said Mr. Johnson, "which, if Mr. Hanna answered at all, he would have to admit to be true. He makes no answer to our charges and he offers no arguments—all he does is throw mud and call names. Does he believe that the voters of Ohio are to be so easily deceived? We stand ready at any time to debate with Senator Hanna or his representative the issue of this campaign. The people are to decide which party will best represent their interests. Would not the people be materially helped to a right conclusion by a series of joint debates between the representatives of the two parties. Senator Hanna says that the republican party stands for all that is right and the democratic party for all that is wrong; Senator Hanna is an able man, and an eloquent speaker—if he honestly believes what he says, why is it that he so persistently refuses to meet us and discuss these questions? The fact of the matter is that Senator Hanna knows that if forced into a position where he could not get away, he would have to admit as true, the things we say, or he would have to deny them as false. Either way he answered, would be fatal to his ambitions. So he goes a long way off, buys special trains to bring his audiences to him, hires bands to make noise, and calls names. He says the democratic platform is made of anarchism, populism and socialism. We demand that not part, but all the people of Ohio shall ride on steam railroads for two cents a mile as they do in New York state, and as they do on many of the railroads in little Michigan. We say that the man with 30 cents shall have as cheap a rate of fare as the man with $20. Senator Hanna says that is anarchism. We demand that the farmer and small home owner shall pay his own taxes only; not his own and some other fellow's too. Senator Hanna says that is populism. We demand that the fee system in county offices, whereby some men in this state are drawing more money from the tax payers than is paid to the president of the United States, shall be abolished. Senator Hanna says that is socialism. Let Senator Hanna say, if he dare, that he does not believe that all the people of Ohio should ride for two cents a mile; let him say that the farmers and small home owners are not paying more than their share of the tax burden; let him say that the fee system is a good thing for the people—he may call these doctrines what he likes, but let him say that they are bad for the people to have—two cents a mile, equalization of taxes and an economical salary system in county offices—and the defeat of the whole republican ticket is as certain as that the sun will rise tomorrow."

"Do you think you are going to win this fall?" cried a voice from the audience.

"I don't know," replied the mayor, raising his voice to a powerful pitch. "but I do know that if the masses of the people will think for themselves; if they will weigh carefully the questions at stake in this campaign—I know that we'll win. We are carrying on a fight that cannot lose. If we don't win this time, we'll win the next, but win we are bound to do. The people cannot be blinded by hard names and partisanship all the time. Whether I am elected governor or not, is not a matter that is of great consequence, but I say this to you—if I am elected governor of Ohio this fall, I will come back and look you straight in the face, and say to you that I have kept, after the election, the promises that I made before the election; that I have kept the faith."

LAMPSHADES

Like Women's Gowns Are Frequently Plaited.

Articles for Home and Dresses Seem to Run Along Similar Lines.

They are not technically called lingerie lampshades, but that is the only name that gives a correct idea of them. The first sight of a handsome silk or satin shade, with its expanding sides apparently held out by innumerable soft chiffon ruffles or fluff balayeurs, suggests nothing so much as the lingerie skirts of a pretty young woman and lampshades, without these ruffles have an unpleasantly unclothed look by comparison.

It is something of a recent fad, this decorating the inside of lampshades, and it is an attractive one. It is done chiefly with the larger shades, as the edge is farther from the chimney and the added frills can be put on without danger.

There is a surprising relation in the world of fashion between things in different classes. Articles for house furnishing and gowns seem to run along similar lines from year to year. Women's gowns now are frequently plaited, and so are lampshades. They may be side plaited, opening widest at the lower edges and closing at the top, like accordion plaits, or they may be box plaited, but never with the stitched plaits, however, like the gowns, the plaits pulled out until not much more than the creases and the outlines remain.

It is frequently to these plaited shades, with their extra flare, that the fluff ruffles are added. One handsome box plaited shade of red satin, with flowers of a more delicate hue, has the ruffles inside the edge of pale pink chiffon. The ruffles may contrast with the color of the shade, repeat some tone in it, or match it.

Chiffon is more or less costly, and also fragile, but the lingerie lampshades are not confined to the finest materials. They are made of cretonnes, and the ruffles on the inside may be of any inexpensive material. Tartan answers the purpose excellently. Paper is also good for decorating the inside, as well as the outside, and paper shades have ruffles or paper fluffing out around the edge.

Small shades are not neglected in the application of ruffles, but they require them less than the larger ones.

Many people get along very well so long as only a fixed amount of work is required of them, but any extraordinary demands upon their strength or unusual exertion leaves them exhausted.

Mr. Richard Buhler a clever actor not unknown to the play going public will appear as the stellar feature in "Paul Revere," which comes to the Faurot Opera House on tomorrow evening. The play has been built around the incident of Longfellow's poem, "The Ride of Paul Revere." It is from the pen of Mr. Frederic Gibbs, and is an excellent example of the possibilities of the modern romantic drama. Mr. Buhler, who possesses much personal magnetism and physical beauty, appears to advantage in the title role and the production promises to be the most memorable one in the local theatricals for this season. Mr. Henry B. Marks is directing the tour, and has expended much upon elaborate scenic effects, chiefly notable for their historical correctness and artistic beauty.

exceptions on a fairly large volume of business. New York Central and were not very heavy

Standard stocks became affected by the selling of New York Central tack on the specialties. The general selling disclosed little support anywhere but pressure was not very strong in any one quarter. New York Central declined 1 5/8 and losses of were 2 point declines in St. Louis nounced by the secretary of the treasury were taken advantage of to market stocks and prices fell sharply all around. Amalgamated and Sugar fell over 2 points Car 1 1/4, General Electric 3/4, Southern Railway preferred 2 1/4, Rock Island preferred 1 1/4 and quite a number of active stocks a point or

TRAIN

Headed Off of the Derail.

Crew Jumped

And Saw Engine and Cars Wrecked.

Bad Smash-up on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Bucyrus.

Three Wreck Trains Were Called
Out and Passenger and Express Trains Detoured Around the Scene.

A bad freight wreck which resulted in heavy damage to rolling stock and considerable delay to traffic, occurred on the P. Ft. W. & C. railroad at Bucyrus yesterday afternoon. The engine—a battleship—and six cars went into the ditch by running off of the derail which protects the T. W. V. & O. crossing and six other cars that remained on the track, were more or less damaged

The train was a west bound through freight and was in charge of conductor Kutsch and engineer Seagrist.
Both of Ft. Wayne and was approaching the crossing at a high rate of speed when the engineer saw that the crossing target was against him and the derail was open. It is claimed that the air brakes refused to work and the statement seems to be correct for engineer Seagrist reversed his engine and whistled for hand brakes. The 37 cars of coke in the train could not be stopped in time to prevent the wreck and soon the head end plunged off of the derail

The engineer fireman and head brakeman remained at their posts as long as possible in an effort to stop the train but when they saw that the train was doomed jumped and by so doing, saved their lives as the cars were piled high and badly broken, and to have remained on the train would have meant instant death

The wreck train at Crestline was sent for but the crew had been called east to clean up a wreck. The Ft.
Wayne crew and the T. W. V. & O. crew at Tiffin were summoned to the scene. Passenger train No. 3 and fast mail train No. 19, were detoured over the Big Four from Crestline to Marion, and over the Hocking Valley from Marion to Upper Sandusky where they were again run onto the P. Ft. W. & C. tracks. The engine was number 7877, and of the big Atlantic type. It was turned over on its side and badly damaged. A large pile of cross ties prevented it from rolling down the steep embankment into the ditch

triumph of surprise instead of disap-

BONE OF STRIFE IN

New York Union Number Two, Led by Delegate Parks.

Committee on Credentials Presents Two Reports and Contest for and Against Seating Parks' Delegation Is on to the Bitter End.

Kansas City, Mo. Sept. 23.—The credentials committee today presented two reports to the convention of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers on the status of Local Union No. 2 of New York city whose leader is Samuel J. Parks, and which recently was suspended by President Buchanan. The majority report referred the matter to the convention for final action while the minority report declared that the suspension of the Union was unconstitutional. Mr. Parks and his fellow members of Union No. 2 were requested to leave the hall until the convention has disposed of their case and this they did peacefully.

The report of the credentials committee was read immediately after the convention was called to order. The shop or inside delegates were seated as were practically all other delegates save those from the contested New York delegation. The majority report referring the Parks' matter to the convention was received without demonstration. But as soon as the secretary had finished reading the minority report a dozen delegates jumped to their feet and demanded recognition.

President Buchanan declared all out of order and after some delay requested that all members of Union No. 2 withdraw. Mr. Parks was already on his feet leading his followers towards the door and with a witty sally at the president's expense all made their way toward a committee room where they awaited any summons that might come from the convention.

At the request of several delegates, President Buchanan instructed all newspaper reporters and spectators to withdraw and a moment more the long expected fight over the New York delegation was on behind closed doors. Heated arguments ensued immediately and the loud words of the delegates could be heard plainly in the hallway.

Mr. Parks smiled complacently and said: "We will win. Just wait. The convention will decide in our favor within fifteen minutes."

The minority report which is signed by J. P. Cary of Buffalo, and Chas. W. Winslow of Washington D. C. says: "While we recognize the right under the constitution of the president to suspend a local union, we are of the opinion that the suspension of local Union No. 2 was not constitutional inasmuch as the evidence submitted fails to convey to us that due notice was given Local Union No. 2 by President Buchanan of his intention to suspend said local if their violation of the constitution did not cease. All of this is provided for in article 6, section 2 of the constitution of this association."

At noon the convention took a recess to 2 o'clock without having reached a conclusion in the Parks case. President Buchanan refused to say what had transpired at the morning session but stated that he did not think the report of the credentials committee would be passed upon before late in the day. Mr. Parks said: "They are prolonging it. If they do not reach a decision soon we will return to New York."

A FIGHT
That Will Long Be Remembered By the Convention.

Kansas City, Mo. Sept. 23.—Which ever way the credentials committee might report upon the seating of Samuel J. Parks, of New York city, and his followers the early indications were that today's session of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers would develop a fight. The committee has been out for thirty-six hours and most of its time it was believed had been taken up in considering the claims of Parks' and his followers in Local Union No. 2 which Pres. Buchanan had expelled from the association for alleged violation of contracts with certain contractors.

Before the convention met, Mr. Parks reiterated his former statement that he and his delegates would win. The committee had, he asserted, decided in his favor although others declared that no intimation of the committee's decision would be given out until their report was read in convention.

The supporters of President Buchanan put little credence in the report that Parks had won out.

I know, said one delegate, that President Buchanan's course in suspending No. 2 has been strongly commended and if the committee should favor the seating of the Parks' crowd there will be a fight on the floor that will long be remembered.

Mr. Parks had previously stated that if the committee reported adversely to him he would fight it out on the floor and that lively times might be expected.

There are about 100 delegates in attendance from every part of the United States and from Canada. It is expected that the convention will remain in session for at least a week. No very important questions outside of the seating of the Parks' delegation and the question of separating the 'inside' or shopmen from the national organization are up for consideration. President Buchanan has not yet decided whether he will run for re-election, and he has said that his action in this regard would depend upon what stand the convention takes in his fight on the expelled New York union. The time for calling the convention to order was set for 10:30 o'clock.

At noon the convention took a recess to 2 o'clock without having reached a conclusion in the Parks case.

President Buchanan refused to say what had transpired at the morning session but stated that he did not think the report of the credentials committee would be passed upon before late in the day. Mr. Parks said: "They are prolonging it. If they do not reach a decision soon we will return to New York."

Members Entered Into Training for Muscle and Health With Renewed Vim.

The gymnasium at the Y. M. C. A. opened yesterday afternoon with the business men's class. Thirty-two of Lima's prominent men were in attendance. New members and old entered into the athletics with a spirit and vim that counts for health. The shower and plunging baths are in fine condition and everything ready for this year's work.

There is more room for men in this class. Come and be one of us.

At 7:30 in the evening the young men's class began its year's work. Thirty young men answered to roll call. After the calisthenics and dumb bell drill, apparatus work was taken up. The class is very enthusiastic and promises to be a record breaker. Join it, young men, before the ranks are full.

Quite a number of new members were secured and the year's work well started.

Today Physical Director Shepard will start the boys, intermediate and seniors under 19, and the policemen in their respective classes.

8,000 ODD FELLOWS WERE IN THE MARCH.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 23.—The sessions of the sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows, were resumed this morning and the competitive drills of rival Cantons were continued at the fifth regiment armory.

In the afternoon, there was a grand parade of the sovereign grand lodge, and subordinate lodges through the principal streets which was witnessed from the sidewalks by vast crowds of people. The sovereign grand lodge officers rode in carriages under the escort of patrolmen's militia. It is estimated that 8,000 Odd Fellows were in line. While passing the city hall the procession was reviewed by Major Robert M. McLane. It is estimated that 30,000 visiting Odd Fellows are now in Baltimore. Among today's arrivals were 500 members of the order from Washington who reached here on two special trains.

MUTILATED MONEY TAKEN BY TREASURY.

It Comes From Parlor Stoves, Stomachs of Animals, and Other Places. Rules Which Govern Its Value for Redemption.

Uncle Sam has made millions through the efforts of people to place money where thieves cannot reach it and the redemption division of the treasury reveals many interesting stories of lost wealth.

Only a few weeks ago, E. E. Schreiner, chief of the division, had a novel experience. He was forced to make an examination of a dog's stomach to satisfy himself that it contained the remains of a $20 bill which the canine had chewed up. The dog's stomach was sent to Mr. Schreiner, accompanied by a letter in which the writer stated that his dog Fritz had swallowed a $20 bill while he was playing with him. The aforesaid Fritz was not regarded by the owner as being worth $20 so he was shot and the stomach sent to the treasury department to see if the bill could be put together sufficiently to be redeemed. With the assistance of the experts in the division of redemption the badly chewed up bill was taken out and it was redeemed at its face value.

And this is the way we have to go about getting money together to redeem it, said one of the experts. "It comes here in every shape, and not infrequently entirely out of shape, and it sometimes takes the greatest care and most delicate work to get it in such condition that we are able to satisfy ourselves that some effort is not being made to swindle your Uncle Sam out of good money. We have our rules for redemption, and these rules are strictly adhered to. Somehow calves appear to have the inside track of all other animals for destroying money and they literally eat it up when they get hold of it, while goats give the stuff a lick and a promise, so to speak, and it is found in large pieces when sent here for redemption. Goats do not chew it up fine like some other animals. It is not often that dogs get hold of money, but frequently pigs and hogs make sad havoc with a roll of bills. Of course, the best thing to be done when a bill is eaten by an animal is to get the mass out as soon as possible, being careful not to let it dry before being sent here. It is safer to allow us to do the taking apart of the pieces. Whenever there is a reasonable doubt about the genuineness of a bill or its denomination, that doubt is in favor of the party making the claim.

Here are the rules, briefly, for the redemption of mutilated money. For a piece of currency greater than two-fifths and less than three-fifths of the original note, one-half the face value of the note is given. For a piece as great as three-fifths, the whole value of the note is given. For a piece two-fifths in size of the original nothing is given. But this last provision is limited by the law, which gives discretion to the treasury department to give full value for a note if the owner can prove to the satisfaction of the authorities that the note, or the missing part of it, was destroyed. This last provision opens the door to possible fraud and many are the efforts made by dishonest persons to take advantage of it. The fragments of money which come here for redemption are turned over to an expert and sorted out under the microscope for identification. They are picked apart and each piece assigned to its place like a puzzle. This is usually done on glass and can be measured in order to ascertain how much of the note is there.

Unless there was the most perfect system here we would be frequently taken in by dishonest persons. A fellow in Kansas sent in the halves of some small bills with the edges nicely charred accompanied by an affidavit that he had put the money in his pocket hung his coat on a fence, and that the coat had been burned. It happened that the other halves of these notes had been redeemed for a New York money broker more than two years previous and the Kansas fellow was arrested and fined $1,000. A Chicago man sent in fragments of two $20 bills and one $10 bill, with an affidavit saying that other halves had been destroyed. With the same mail a Chicago banker sent the other halves. It was proved that the fellow who made the affidavit was a swindler, and he got two years in the 'pen.' There have been a number of cases of this character. We keep tabs on every bill which is redeemed or sent for redemption and that is the way we keep from being buncoed.

"It is not only mutilated money that comes here but dirty and worn money of all kinds—after it is so badly worn that it will not pass current. This last class of money is placed in the hands of experts to decide whether it was issued by the government and should be redeemed at its face value, or whether it is the work of counterfeiters and should be rejected. It is not to the discredit of the division and the experts to say that some bogus money has got past them and been detected in one of the offices to which it had been sent for further examination.

"Decidedly the larger part of money sent here for redemption has been damaged by fire. The parlor stove being a great source of loss, people sticking rolls of bills in these places for safe keeping and neglecting to remove them before building fires. Railway wrecks cause great loss of money, sometimes, by the burning of mail and express cars, but in such cases it is not difficult to have every dollar redeemed if only small portions of the notes can be found. A few bits so hopelessly charred as to seem to be the ordinary rag but a small accumulation of ashes, may be redeemable for thousands of dollars. Morsels no larger than your finger nails are every day redeemed for the face value of the notes they represent. All that is required is sufficient evidence to show that the originals have been destroyed.

"Uncle Sam has made a great deal of money by his paper cash that has been accidentally destroyed. Every cent that is not handed in at the treasury for redemption is so much in his pocket. Take, for example, the first issue of fractional currency which was put out in 1863. Of the five cent notes more than 45 per cent has never been asked payment for. The same is true of 50 per cent of the 10 cent notes, 20 per cent of 25 cent notes and 11 per cent of the 50 cent notes. It is shown by the figured treasury totals that of the $20,000,000 worth of these notes, first issued more than $4,000,000 still remains in the clothes of the government. Four subsequent issues of these small notes ran the total up to $47,000,000 and more than $11,000,000 additional has not been called for leaving Uncle Sam $15,000,000 ahead of the game on fractional currency. These small notes were easily destroyed and lost, especially during war times and millions are now in the hands of the curio collectors and individuals who keep them. In 1870 a treasury commission appointed by congress made up its mind that $3,000,000 had been lost or destroyed and congress accordingly turned that amount out of the $10,000,000 appropriated for redemption of the fractional notes over for the payment of pensions. Since that time experts have concluded that not more than $1,000,000 has been lost and destroyed, and that $14,000,000 yet remains outstanding. New York Tribune

REPUTATION REDEEMED

But a Better, Safer Method Found.

For twenty years I was an awful sufferer from Varicose veins and ulcers on my leg. For twelve winters I sat in a chair, my leg pained me so I could not lie down.

The doctors began to say I would never use it again. Others advised amputating my leg to prevent gangrene from setting in.

One day I read of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. I bought a bottle and commenced taking it.

And I surely believe if I had not taken Favorite Remedy I would not be alive today. My leg healed up entirely and I am now well and strong.

JOSEPH H. MULCOCK, 377 Church St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

A prominent physician of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in explaining the demand for this King of kidney, bladder and blood medicines, said: "Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy acts as a nerve and blood food. It has made many permanent cures of nervous debility, dyspepsia, rheumatism, and of the sicknesses peculiar to women. Where other treatments have failed, for headaches, constipation and that run down condition, there is nothing else half so good as this great kidney and liver medicine."

SLAVERY

In Not Wholly Abolished in America.

Cities Swarm With Greek Boys Who Were Bought Outright or Stolen.

"An agent of a shoeing syndicate bought me in Greece for $25. He did not hire me nor rent my services. He bought me of my parents outright. The agent brought me to America in the steerage of a steamer, where I was herded with fifteen other boys who were coming to America practically as slaves. American agents buy many slaves in Greece."

This was the statement of a Greek boy who for a year blacked shoes in a West Madison street shoe-shining parlor, says the Chicago Record-Herald. He was a slight little fellow, with a white face and black hair and eyes. While learning to speak English he had learned something of American institutions. He quit the syndicate whose slave he had been, and recently went to work for wages in another shoe-shining place.

"When I was brought to Chicago I was put to work shining shoes for a syndicate which has shops in almost every city in the United States, and has many hundred boys working for it," he continued. "Most of these boys are slaves. An agent of the syndicate makes yearly trips to Greece. He buys many boys of parents who are too poor to keep them. Some of the boys the agent picks up on the street and kidnaps out of the country. These kidnapped boys cost nothing. After landing in America they are distributed among the shoe-shining shops of the company. The new arrivals are put at work in small cities for the most part. As a rule they keep them away from Chicago. They get 'wise' too quick here and then run away."

"They are compelled to work the first three months for nothing. Then they are paid at the rate of $50 a year. Very few ever get over $75 a year no matter how long they stay in service. These small wages are paid out of their tips. Many boys who make from $150 to $200 a day in tips must turn these extra dimes over to the bosses. They are not permitted to keep a cent. Out of their tips, too, they are usually fed and clothed. So the income of the shoe-shining parlor except for the rent is almost clear profit."

These little slaves are not expensive to keep. Often all of them sleep in a room above the shop. Always they are lodged together in a single room in a cheap quarter. Their food, which consists of rice bread and herring is bought in wholesale quantities. This, with a pot of beer is all they have to eat. They wear their clothes until they are ragged and ready to fall from their backs. Then the boss buys them a second hand suit for about $2.50.

"The boys are kept at work from 5 o'clock in the morning until 10 and 11 o'clock at night. Each boy earns on an average of $4 a day besides his tips. Most shops employ from five to ten boys. As all their make is velvet the proprietors have an income of from $20 to $40 a day and more. Many Greeks have grown rich at blacking shoes in America."

"The bosses don't want the boys to learn English. That's the reason few Greek bootblacks can talk the language. Greeks are fine linguists as a rule—as good as any people of Europe. But they are afraid to try to learn English or, if they do learn it, they are afraid to talk it. Some of them are satisfied with their slavery. Most of them are not. But they are afraid to run away. The bosses' frighten them by telling them that an organization exists among the employers of such labor to capture or kill runaways. The boys have the same terror of this society as Italians have of the Mafia. I don't know whether there really is such a society or not. I have never heard of any runaways being killed."

Consolation. The West Baltimore street man was indignant. He was fairly fuming with rage.

What's the matter?" asked his friend.

"Matter? Matter enough! That man Biggins told me I was a cheat a liar and a horse thief. That's what's the matter."

Oh well, said his friend consolingly, you mustn't believe everything you hear old chap. Baltimore News

A HINT TO THE WISE.

This Advice Will Bear Repeating in Lima. Don't chase shadows. Doubtful proof is but a shadow. You can rely on testimony of people you know.

You can investigate local evidence.

Mr. W. H. Neise of 123 South McDonell street, says: "In the summer of 1896 I was called upon by a representative who wished to ascertain my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured some time previously at Wm. M. Melville's drug store. I gave it to him and allowed it to be published in Lima papers. In November of 1898 another representative interviewed me to ascertain if I was still free from kidney complaint, which Doan's Kidney Pills had disposed of over two years before. I conscientiously made the following public statement: Since I used Doan's Kidney Pills in 1896 I have had no return of kidney trouble. I can recommend them today as highly as when I gave my first statement. They are reliable and effective for backache and inactive kidneys."

KALB

And Colvin Are Now Spoken of As Candidates

To Be Drafted by the "Aunties"

To Fill Two of the Vacancies on Republican County Ticket.

Boes Hall Still Has a Word to Say Concerning the Distribution of Political Pie.—George II Not Yet "It."

There is a probability that the republican county central committee will have three instead of two vacancies to fill on their county ticket. Dr. Landick has declined to accept the nomination for coroner, and Chief of Police Walter S. Mills has refused to be drafted as a candidate for sheriff and now to make the embarrassment of the committee and remaining candidates more oppressive it is reported in all parts of the county that A. L. Belch, the school superintendent at Vaughnsville Putnam county who in his absence from the convention was put on the ticket as a candidate for representative, has declined to come over into Allen county and make a race for the office.

Mr. Belch undoubtedly realizes that it will be impossible for him to defeat Hon. J. W. Mangas, of Richland township for a second term in the state legislature and that it will be safer for him to remain with his present position over in Putnam county where the Ghost is sure to walk.

No one has yet been found to accept Dr. Landick's place on the county ticket as a republican candidate against democracy's popular candidate for second term—Dr. A. Rice—for coroner but there are two new Richmonds in the field for the other two places on the ticket. H. M. Colvin has been a prospective candidate for sheriff for some time and now Gus Kalb, the well-known former clothing merchant ex-banker and real estate and loan agent is being touted as a candidate in A. L. Belch's place for representative.

The republican county central committee met last Saturday and expected to fill vacancies on the republican county ticket at that time but vacancies become so numerous that the matter was deferred to an other meeting to be held later.

The Renegade republicans claim to have secured control of the party machinery in Allen county by their recent defeat of Postmaster Hall in the organization of the new county central and executive committees but Mr. Hall still has something to say when it comes to the distribution of political pie. The Times Democrat has it from an authentic source, near the throat of Senator Marcus A. Hanna in Cleveland that the appointment of Raymond P. Westlake formerly of this city to the position of an assistant postmaster in the U. S. navy was secured by reason of the applicant for the position having the endorsement of Postmaster Hall.

Indoor Sport Promises to Be Lively This Winter, and Many Contests.

There promises to be a revival in bowling in Lima, this winter and plans have already been made for the building of new alleys on north Main street, but the location has not been decided on. At present the Metropolitan alleys in the basement of that building are the only ones in the city, and the bowlers have begun to increase so in number that a new and up to date alley looks good to be a money maker.

Lima has a number of experts and some interesting contests will take place during the winter the first one with an out-of-town team being scheduled for this evening, when two Sidney teams will be here.

Match Races Now the Order of the Day

With Another Special Event Added Since Yesterday.
Private Affair.

Good Sized Crowd Saw Ruth Parks Take Two Beats Out of Three From Lady Lusk and Lots of Money Changed Hands.

The special race, arranged for yesterday between two of the jumpers, Lady Lusk and Ruth Parks, drew a crowd somewhat beyond the proportions expected considering that the event was arranged without a chance to have it announced in the local press. There has been considerable talk on the part of owners and jockeys as to the merits and speed of their respective horses, and since this week was an off one, while waiting for the fair at Wapakoneta and Findlay next week, the stables at the driving park still give quarters to a number of horses awaiting shipment.

It was not all boasting, it seems, as the controversy led to the match race, referred to in the Times Democrat last night and this morning developed another which added to the event fixed for this afternoon.

Lady Lusk, under the management of James Guncheon was pitted against Ruth Parks, the handsome bald faced owned by Byron Rice of Spencerville, and each owner had deposited $100 on the result in addition to several side bets, which the talent present so managed to put up enough on the Guncheon to run the amount beyond the $500 mark.

Since the race is over it is evident to the beholders that for a three-quarter dash Lady Lusk is good betting, but she couldn't be brought back from the stable with enough speed to take another heat. Ruth Parks had the fires banked and was ready with a surplus of steam when the critical moment arrived taking the last two heats with distance to spare.

Lady Lusk had Enos up and carried 108 pounds Goodyear on Ruth Parks weighing out at 114. The track was so hard that it couldn't be deuced with a colic shovel but as both horses preferred the mud there was no advantage in the way of track handicap. Tuck Kent did the starting and got the horses away almost head-to-head every time although the judges decreed that a lap would be sufficient. The Guncheon horse had no trouble in the first heat, and Goodyear was unable to better than to pick up some lost ground as the two came down the stretch. The time was good considering the footing the half being called in 50 1/2, the five-eighths in 1:03 and the three-fourths in 1:17 1/2.

In the second heat there was a long play at the post for an opening, but the start was even, and Lady Lusk again led the turn when she was seen to ease up and Ruth Parks headed for home with no doubt as to her ability to win. Goodyear knew he had the material and saved a second on two of time at the finish, Enos also allowing the winner to pass the judges' without the urging which a neck and neck race would have called for. The time at the quarter was 25, the half 50 and the three-fourths in 1:20 flat.

There was no Lady Lusk money in sight when the two rivals came back for the final heat. Ruth Parks was active and spirited but the Lady after only ten days under saddle, look tired and worried. They got away beautifully, and for half the distance Lady Lusk made a bid for the money but repeated her former action of fading from a fast gait at a critical moment. Ruth Parks galloped home at a fast pace by several lengths in 1:19. The heat was won in 59 and the three-eighths in 1:05.

On the three-fourth dash between Nina B. L. and Griss Cross this afternoon two of the factors in last week's races $200 a side was posted, with Nina the favorite in the betting. The spirit of the occasion warmed up some of the other owners and another match was arranged last night for $100 a side, between Irish Boy, owned by James Guncheon, and Vernie Rice, the property of Tuck Kent, the starter of yesterday's event. Goodyear was expected to ride Vernie Rice and Pat- tin will guide Irish Boy, both going to the saddle with 115 pounds.

NINA B. L.
And Vernie Rice, the Winners in Yesterday's Races.

At the fair grounds this afternoon, Nina B. L. defeated Grisscross in the three quarter dash, and Vernie Rice defeated Irish Boy in the four and one half furlongs contest, both match races.

At 7:30 o'clock last evening at the parochial residence of the Rev. Father Rupert a pretty wedding was witnessed by a very few friends, the bride being Mrs. Kate Woerner's daughter Louise and the groom Mr. Howard H. Halleck of the Jarecki Manufacturing Co. Father Rupert said the binding words uniting their lives in holy wedlock, and then the bridal party were driven to the home of the bride's mother at 775 west Wayne street where about forty relatives and friends were assembled. At eight o'clock Miss Cantwell at the piano played an accompaniment for Miss Esther Swan who sang "Call Me Thine Own" from L'Clair and Oh Promise Me" by De Koven. Then Loebengrin's wedding march announced the approach of the bridal party the bride being a pretty picture in her snowy gown of Paris crepe silk trimmed with taffeta bands and Venetian lace. Her bouquet was a mass of lilies of the valley. The bride's maid wore a becoming gown of white India batiste and carried pink roses. The Rev. Mr. Lord pastor of the First Baptist church read the impressive marriage service and then showers of congratulations, fell upon the happy couple. A wedding supper of numerous courses was served at tables decorated with American bean- ties and white roses the color scheme throughout being pink and white with palms for a background. The bride before leaving threw her bouquet in midair, the fragrant assurance of speedy marriage being caught by Miss Lenore Simons.
